

HON. W. B. COCHRAN OF NEW YORK DIES SUDDENLY TODAY

Spoke Against Farm Credits Bill Last Night in House—Dead Congressman Unrelenting Foe of Prohibition

WAS ONE MOST PICTURESQUE FIGURES AMERICAN POLITICS

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Representative W. Bourke Cockran, Democrat of New York, died suddenly today. Mr. Cockran celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday yesterday. He became ill last night and died early today. On the floor of the house last night he made a spirited speech in opposition to the pending farm credits bill.

Death came as the immediate result of a stroke of apoplexy. He was one of the most picturesque figures in American public life. He was the wheel horse of Tammany Hall whose battles he fought on many occasions. In recent years he devoted much attention to the fight for Irish freedom. He was the unrelenting foe of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act and never lost an opportunity to denounce them as an "invasion on personal liberty." He was born in Ireland and was first elected to congress in 1887. His service since has not been continuous however.

GRAND JURY MAKE THEIR INDICTMENTS

Mike Howard Charged With Murder —Near Two Hundred Cases Called Yesterday

PINEVILLE, Mar. 1.—The grand jury made its report at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after being in session since Monday noon. The report however, will not be made public until after the sheriff has served the warrants on those indicted.

The only indictment made public was that of Mike Howard, who is charged by the grand jury with murder. He is now out on $5,000 bond and his trial has been set for next Wednesday. He is charged with the murder of Fred Moore February 11. The shooting took place at the defendant's home on Straight Creek at about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, following a quarrel over liquor. The following Wednesday he came to Pineville and gave himself up.

This will add one murder case to the present docket of criminal court, making a total number of seven.

Between one hundred and fifty and two hundred cases were called by Judge Forrester yesterday, most of them being felony charges and were left in process. Only three convictions were returned. Ed Green of Tejay was found guilty of selling liquor, fined $200 and given 30 days in jail. Joe Rhodes of Greasy Creek was fined $50 for drawing a deadly weapon, and Joe Dozier of Pineville was fined $100 and given thirty days in jail on the charge of giving liquor away, and fined $100 and given 30 days in jail for transporting liquor, and was found not guilty on the charge of selling it.

TAZEWELL MAN KILLED BY POSSE

Negro Is Here In Capture of Men Accused of Series Burglaries in Tennessee

John Carroll of Tazewell was killed at Washburn, Tenn., Tuesday night by a negro chauffeur following an attack by Constable Frye and a posse. Wiley Lakins, his companion was wounded by the posse. The men were said to have committed a series of burglaries for which crimes the officers sought to place them under arrest.

According to the report received from there, Carroll was wounded in the arm by shots from the posse and was in a sand house near the railway tracks. A doctor accompanied by his negro chauffeur, came to administer aid to the wounded man. The task of looking into the house with a flashlight devolved upon the negro.

When he peered in at the opening and sought to focus the light on the wounded man, the latter answered with a pistol shot which grazed the cheek of the negro. Immediately he dropped the flashlight and emptied his pistol in the darkness. Carroll escaped from the sand house but was found dead in the feed house of a farmer who lived nearly a mile from the scene of the shooting.

APARTMENT HOUSE MAY BE BUILT HERE

Louisville Man Offers One-Fourth Capital—F. P. Scales Promoting Plans

An apartment house costing from $100,000 to $200,000 may be erected in Middlesboro. Leon S. Beam of Louisville offers to promote the enterprise provided one-fourth of the expense be defrayed by local capital, according to Col. F. P. Scales who has recently returned from Louisville.

The building will probably contain about 150 rooms and will be modern in every way. Should local residents favor the proposition to the extent of investing twenty-five per cent of the capital they will be allowed to buy the preferred stock.

Col. Scales is of the opinion that local business men will enthusiastically favor the deal and that there will be no difficulty in selling one-fourth of the stock here. It is mainly through his efforts that Mr. Beam decided to build the apartment house here.

"I understood that he intended to erect a building in some Kentucky city and I boosted Middlesboro as the ideal location," he said. "In view of the present shortage of houses I am confident that it will be a paying proposition."

"Capitalists from the larger Kentucky cities have their eyes on Middlesboro. They regard it as a virgin field and a logical one in which to finance a business."

OFFICERS GET WHISKEY AT TIM BALL'S RESIDENCE

Seven half-gallon jars of whiskey were found at the residence of Tim Ball last night in a raid made by W. B. Saylor, federal prohibition agent, assisted by Policemen White, Crabtree and Watkins. Ball was arrested and taken to Pineville to have a preliminary hearing before Judge J. C. Rollins.

The liquor was found in an upstairs room. Ball made no resistance when arrested. Another raid was staged in another section of town by the officers but no whiskey was found.

SUMMER SCHOOLS PLANNED AT K. U.

First Session From June 25 to August 4, Second From August 6 to September 8

By Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Mar. 1.—Two summer sessions will be held at the University of Kentucky to meet increasing demands of teachers of the state, according to an announcement by Wellington Patrick, director of the department of university extension. The first session will continue from June 25 to August 4, and the second from August 6 to September 8.

For the first session credit will be given for subjects in the college of arts and sciences, agriculture, engineering and law and work will be given in practically all departments. Only the essential subjects in a few departments will be offered the second session.

A group of nationally prominent educators in addition to the university staff, has been engaged to teach in the summer school, according to Mr. Patrick. Among them is Dr. David Snedden of Columbia University, New York, an authority on educational administration.

During the first session a conference of high school teachers will be conducted by Dr. J. T. C. Noe, Dr. Snedden, J. D. Holloway, George E. Colvin and others, who will be engaged as speakers at the conference.

A feature of the summer course will be a course in radio communication. Enrollment in summer school has constantly increased from less than 300 students three years ago to 600 regular students in 1922 with an additional 100 vocational students. The new state law requiring higher educational standards for teachers is expected greatly to increase the number attending the summer session. To accommodate the increased number, the double session has been adopted.

HOUSE TODAY PASSES FARM CREDITS BILL

To Establish Federal and Private, New Banking Systems—Twelve Intermediate Banks, Many Private Corporations

NEW SYSTEM GOES IN EFFECT JANUARY 31

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—The House today passed the Farm Credits bill. It now goes to conference. The bill proposes to establish two new banking systems. One government and the other private, to meet the financial needs of agriculture.

The Federal system would consist of twelve "intermediate credit banks" located in the same cities as the Federal farm loan banks with a capital of five million each. They will be authorized to issue tax-free debentures up to a total of six hundred million, giving them an aggregate resource of six hundred sixty million or nearly twice the amount of the War Finance Corporation has been called upon to advance to the agricultural industry.

Private corporations which are authorized by the bill have a capital of not less than two hundred fifty thousand and each and their number will be unlimited. It is these organizations that will make advances to producers of live stock on long term paper. There will be private rediscount corporations having capital of not less than a million each. It is expected the new system will be in operation by January 31 next when the War Finance Corporation ceases to function.

GREAT INTEREST IN BAPTIST S. S. TRAINING CLASSES

The meeting conducted by the Baptist Sunday school workers here this week are being held each evening in four departmental classes. These meetings, held from 6 to 9 o'clock each evening, are to organize classes and departments in the Sunday school and to train efficient teachers and officers to take charge of the Sunday school classes. Considerable interest is being taken in these classes and the faculty of state workers who have them in charge are qualified to the highest degree for this work.

Tabulation of the Sunday school census taken by Baptist workers Sunday afternoon is about 65 per cent complete and shows, already, 3,360 persons who are either Baptist or Baptist leaguers. They are total to be near 5000 when tabulation is complete.

FEUDS THINGS
OF THE PAST

It has been a long time since Kentucky staged a real feud and except-for occasional clashes of mountain clans that soon subside comparative peace seems to have settled in the former feud-ridden section. Some of the noted feuds extended over many months and required the presence of State troops to break them up.

Usually the feuds had their beginning in some trivial cause that provoked a killing. Clannishness is a mountain trait and the connections by blood and marriage on both sides soon became involved in the trouble with a corresponding increase in the toll of human life. With the county officials either involved on one side or the other or unable to cope with the outbreak, the State militia often was called upon to apprehend the ringleaders and restore law and order.

"Shooting up the town" was a favorite diversion during these orgies of outlawry and armed bands would arouse themselves by making nocturnal visits to mountain towns and shooting out the lights in private homes. After being "shot up" one of these towns presented the appearance of having been the scene of a battle with the streets littered with empty high power shells.

Development and the hum of industry has had much to do with the decadence of outlawry in Eastern Kentucky and the potentialities of the plicity of work to engage his attention and take his mind off of the things that so long brought that section of the State into disrepute.—The Courier Journal.

THE TEST

He's "awfully good to his mother,"
And good to his family, But somehow or somehow or other,
That doesn't mean much to me The record that I'd be seeing Conveniently compiled, Is—just how good is he being To somebody else's mother,
And somebody else's brother,
And somebody else's sister,
And somebody else's child?

The wolf in his cave will cherish His cubs and his savage mate, Put leave all the rest to perish, Oblivious of their fate; But a Man—well, a man's designed to Be more than a beast that's wild; And you ask—"Is he fair and kind to,
Say, somebody else's mother,
And somebody else's brother,
And somebody else's sister,
And somebody else's child?"

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

A most amazing thing happened Nancy and Nick crossed the wide, wide river safely and thought that all they had to do was to walk right up to King Jack Straw's palace (who wasn't king at all), push open the door (made of a double live donkey) and put him out.

Then Mix-Up Land would turn back into Apple-Pie Land as it used to be and King Even-Steven, the real king wouldn't have to so round with faces over his silver clothes like a beggar.

That's what the Twins thought But it wasn't what happened Here's what happened The donkey house made a big jump and landed on top of a steep cliff and stuck there and no one could get it out.

"Now look!" cried Nancy pointing at the strange sight. "All our trouble for nothing."

"I should say so," declared Nick, stamping his feet. "That rogue Jack Straw must have turned the magic ring on his left thumb again."

THE L. ST ACT

THE
ONE-MAN WOMAN

By Ruth Agnes Abeling.

"I like you Jimmy" Kate was surprised at the casualness of her own voice, "but I'm not sure Give me time Jimmy, give me just two days at home with no one there but my father—and I'll be able to think it out clearly."

"All right, dear." The note was a subdued note in his voice.

The roadster sped on, cutting up the miles which lay white, ribbon like, in the moonlight. Palestine was a grove of silent houses and lines of empty streets when the car reached the town and passed through it on toward the cottage of John Parsons.

"Come day after tomorrow—late in the afternoon," said Kate, as she stepped out of the car, "and I'll have an answer for you."

James Latham, head discoverer, raised his hand to his lips, held it a moment and then drove away.
Kate went into the house and without disturbing John's note for way to her own room. There she found Dorothy sleeping, snoring unconscious of the tragedy hovering in her life.

Kate lit a candle and sat down gently in the far corner of the room.
Then she opened her purse and drew out the letter which had been sent her in the laundry of Sing Lor. She held the letter bit of paper to the flame.

As the paper curled and blackened Kate recalled almost word for word the lines penned on it.

They had held the secret of Alice's deception, of her tears, of her courage and of her death.

"You have been everything to me," Kate recalled the last paragraph. "I know that my days are numbered and I wanted to say that to you before the end. You have been generous in sharing your means with me, I haven't deserved it. All along you have been the one on whom I leaned.
It should have been the reverse. You've been a little brick of a girl and I wanted to tell you just once more before I step off that you haven't been entirely unappreciated."

The note was signed J. D. G., and addressed to Alice Goodman.

That, then, had been Alice's name, thought Kate. And in J. D. G., the man whose body lay in the morning and about whom the curious publicized conjectured, Kate recognized the emaciated man with whom she saw Alice walking on the night of the third visitation of the mysterious voice.

Test thoroughly and, if at all so sticky, mix in a warm place and allow it to steam and evaporated. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat, hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 40 counts. Drain on paper and serve very hot. Bet the man who invented kissing was surprised at the results.

Manners are the mark of the man or the woman. Good or bad, your manners classify you. Courtesy is the art of kindness to others. The kindly win kindness. Etiquette is the formula for the expression of good breeding. Instinct helps anyone to be properly polite, but the well-informed on etiquette possess social insurance.

ON THE TRAIN
 1: A gentleman steps aside to permit a woman to board a train first, and the woman precedes her male escort down the aisle of the car.
 2: A man offers his seat to a woman or elderly man otherwise compelled to stand; no one should permit a man or woman carrying a child to stand for lack of a seat.
 3: On the sleeping car the person having the lower berth is entitled to the seat facing forward.
 4: A man chancing to meet a woman acquaintance on the train may invite her to dine with him, but whether she permits him to pay for her meal depends upon the degree of their acquaintance.
 5: Parents traveling with children should not permit them to indulge in antics that will annoy other passengers.

It's bad manners to spread your hand baggage in the car aisle where other passengers may stumble over it.

Care of Water Bags.
 Even the most expensive hot-water bags seldom reach a ripe old age. This is largely because they are not cared for properly. If, after each using, you will blow the bag full of air and screw in the stopper you will prevent the sides from sticking together, and consequently from rotting or tearing.
 Asylums are sweeping out the ward annually reserved for those who imagine they are income tax blanks.

REV. J. M. RODDY ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB ON SWERVING

Former Pastor Makes Strong Appeal For Honesty And Steady Living

—President Appoints Important Committees

"EVE" GIRLS DON'T SHOW UP MALE QUARTET SINGS INSTEAD

The Rev. J. M. Roddy addressed the Kiwanis Club at its regular weekly luncheon today, his subject being,

"Swerving." The speaker told, in beginning, a story of an experienced automobile driver who explained his accident by saying that he was driving his car at high speed and fo-got how to stop it, seeing a bridge coming swiftly down the road in front of him, he swerved to allow it to pass—and that was the last he remembered.

"The driver was in the right place, the highway," said Rev. Roddy, "but he found dangers there quite as if he had been off the right road Temptations on the highway are to swerve from it," he explained, "and temptations on the wrong road are not to swerve. There is no safe place on the great thoroughfare of life over which we all pass," he declared, "though some places are safer. Unless we keep a steady hand and a clear brain, here is likely to be a wreck somewhere."

As a second point, the Rev. Roddy showed causes of the wreck, saying first that the driver was going too fast. "Oh, the human wrecks that are left on life's highway because they are going too fast," he declared.

"The trouble most places today is, not the high cost of living, but the cost of high living, the strain of keeping up with some one else who is setting the pace. Then, he said, following up his story, he said, many find themselves going too fast and forget how to slow down. Often other persons are involved in the wreck, he showed, but even when it is an individual matter a man cannot afford to let himself go too fast.

A blurred vision, the speaker went on to say, often aids in wrecking a man. He forgets how the old virtues and principles which were so clear in his boyhood, look now

"Crookedness never pays," declared Rev. Roddy humorously. "Think of the scores and scores of coikscrews out of a job now." Then there is the matter of defective understanding, which was given as another cause of wreck. The bridge in front of the driver was built to help him, but he saw in it only danger and "swerved to let it pass," said the speaker.

"Let us have a clear understanding of manly principles," he urged, "and let them always be the guiding hand on the wheel."

In closing the speaker paid great tribute to Middlesboro and to the Kiwanis Club, saying that he hoped always to be able to come back to Middlesboro, and, that in the future he hoped to see "the shaggy head of the old Pinnacle crowned with a National Park," as the Kiwanis Club planned, and to see Middlesboro thoroughly aroused to progress and greatness. "I believe in Middlesboro and her population," he said, "and wherever I go I shall always remember the ten best years of my life which were tied up in this, the Queen City of the Mountains."

Dr. U. G. Brummett was chairman of the program and gave the attendance prize which was drawn by Ma-JOR E. S. Helburn. Guy Glover gave the silent boost. Announcement was made that T. R. Hill and C. G. Smyth had been chosen delegates to the international convention in Atlanta in May, and that all other persons who intended to go should serve in reservations by March 15.

A finance committee for the district convention was appointed, as follows: L. D. Hill, chairman, A. M.

Kinnaird, E. P. Nicholson and W. C.

Stair. A committee to work on the park proposition was named as follows: S. M. Reams, chairman, J. F.

Bosworth, John Howard, E. S. Hel-burn and H. H. Overton.

Sixty-three men were present, undoubtedly brought out in such numbers by the announcement that the "Eve" girls would be there. But they were doomed to disappointment, for not a chorus girl showed up.

However, a male quartet from the "Eve" cast came in and sang some excellent selections, which were roundly applauded. Their solo and quartet work was, indeed, of extra-

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Often soiled lace will respond to cornmeal treatment.
Rub it with the meal, as with soap, and shake lightly with the fingers. When all the meal has been removed it should have taken with it a great deal of the dirt.
You'll get best results by using white meal with white lace, and yellow with darker of ecru laces.
